Good practices correspond to carefully documented initiatives, projects or programs that provide practical examples, propose creative and sustainable solutions, generate ideas or provide guidelines that contribute to the adoption of policy measures and the development of new projects.

The jury comments: "The Madrid Río project is one of the most ambitious and controversial projects undertaken to recover public space. Finally, it has had a great positive social impact for the citizens; it has become a space of enjoyment for the citizen, facilitating its access with new connection bridges, recovering the river and the forgotten Heritage that was in its margins. The recovery of the old slaughterhouse of the city, at the disposal of the initiative of the citizens and the neighborhood associations; the recovery of the River's Hydraulic Heritage; and the recovery of Historical Heritage, rehabilitating architectural elements such as the Puente de Segovia, Toledo or the surroundings of the Chapel of the Virgen del Puerto."
