

FIRST Y-COLUMN AT NEW ROTTERDAM CENTRAL STATION

18-03-2010

The first Y-column of the new Rotterdam Central Station has been erected this week. This represents a first realized sign of the new station roof, after 5 years of design work. The column is one of the sculptural features of the station. About 48 of them will be realized in total.

more information: Rotterdam Centraal Station