

GOVERNORS ISLAND FEATURED IN THE NEW YORKER

24-08-2009

In The New Yorker of August 24, Nick Paumgarten writes about the redevelopment of Governors Island, in New York Harbor. In this video, Paumgarten tours the island with Leslie Koch, the president of the Governors Island Preservation and Education Corporation, who explains how this former military base is being converted into parks and other public spaces, for which West 8 designed the master plan.

<http://www.newyorker.com/online/blogs/newsdesk/2009/08/video-tour-governors-island.html>

more information: Governors Island Park and Public Space Master Plan